We work with people on a wide range of issues including:

Applications - We can assist with asylum and immigration applications, including those made by unaccompanied children, victims of domestic violence and Article 8 (family and private life in the UK).

Visas - Spouse, fiancé, unmarried partner and EEA applications.

Appeals - We can assist with appeals to the Immigration Tribunal and higher courts.

Judicial Review - Where there is no right of appeal or access to administrative review, we can advise and assist on judicial review.

Most of our work is funded by legal aid and we also offer privately funded options where this is not available

To challenge a Home Office decision, you must act promptly if a written decision has been made, as a strict time limit applies.
